The crowned heads and other dignitaries of Europe are doing a good deal of hobnobbing and excursioning these days, and their people foot the bill.

A negro mob in Delaware attacked a circus man who had been a soldier in the Philippines and didn't discover their mistake until four of them were laid out dead with bullets in them.

The chaplain of Sing Sing prison has had to resign. The convicts soured on him because he had cruelly beaten his child, and declared they didn't want any preaching from a chap like that.

Some New York critics declare that Roosevelt doesn't pronounce his name correctly when he reduces it to two syllables when it should be three. But there is no chance for argument as to the pronunciation of Teddy.

That Chicago millionaire may succeed in getting the servant girl he wants with his $1,000,000 offer but that will not solve the servant problem. Very few of us have a million dollars to offer as an inducement to them to be good.

A lady who missed her outgoing steamer at New York didn't think bad words, as some might, but thought of a Marconigram, sent that after her and held the steamer up in the bay until she could reach her with a tug. It was a tight tug, but she made it.

It is said that old maids are few and far between in Armenia, for the reason that if a girl isn't engaged by the time she reaches seventeen years she is forced to fast three days, and then for twenty-four hours is fed on salt fish and are not allowed anything to quench her thirst. They consider almost any kind of a fellow preferable to a salting like that.

Circuit Attorney Folk, of St. Louis, declined the present of a $15,000 house offered him as a testimonial by citizens for his work in sending boodlers to the penitentiary. He is too poor to own a house himself, but he was too proud to take that one for "simply doing his duty." That kind of folk is somewhat rare these days.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Beautiful and Appropriate Exercises in Honor of "Our Confederate Dead."

OAKDALE CEMETERY TO-DAY.

Military, Veterans and Allied Organizations Will Attend in a Body This Afternoon--Sermon by Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell—Notes.

If the weather is at all favorable today the annual Memorial Day exercises at beautiful Oakdale cemetery, under the auspices of Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will be very pleasing and appropriate. Yesterday the ladies met at the cemetery and decorated the graves of the Confederate dead, according to their beautiful custom, and made other arrangements for the solemn ceremonies this afternoon. The exercises will take place as usual at the base of the Confederate monument.

The memorial sermon will be preached by the eloquent Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, of Norfolk, who will arrive to-day from the Southern Baptist Convention at Savannah, Ga. As usual the local military, Camp of Confederate Veterans and allied organizations will attend and take part in the patriotic service.

Mr. J. Hal. Boatwright will be chief marshal and he has appointed as his assistants, Dr. A. M. Baldwin, Messrs. Sol Bear, R. F. Hamme, Calvin Reaves and J. G. Skipper.

For the benefit of all who desire to attend the C. R., L. & P. Co. has arranged to operate a car each ten minutes from Tenth and Princess streets to the grounds and a large crowd is expected to be in attendance.

The Veterans, military and others will form a procession at the cemetery lodge and will move promptly at 4:30 o'clock to the monument. The military will open ranks at the entrance to the monument enclosure, allowing the Veterans, Daughters of Confederacy and others to pass through and occupy seats around the beautiful spot. The organizations will form as follows, in the order given: Wilmington Light Infantry, Naval Reserves, Boys' Brigade, Confederate Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Chaplain and Orator, Daughters of the Confederacy.

The programme of exercises will consist of an opening prayer by the chaplain, Rev. R. W. Hogue, rector of St. James parish, and that will be followed by the hymn "There is a Blessed Home." Chief Marshal Boatwright will then present the orator, Dr. Blackwell, pastor of the First Baptist church, Norfolk, Va., who will deliver the sermon. Dr. Blackwell's discourse will be followed by a reading of the Roll of Honor; the hymn, "Soldiers of Christ;" the doxology; benediction; salute by military and taps.

On account of Memorial Day falling on Sunday this year, the banks and other business houses of like character will observe the day by closing to-morrow.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF EXPLOSION.

Colored Fireman on Tug Cynthia Died of His Injuries Yesterday Afternoon.

F. W. Jackson, the colored fireman who was so badly scalded as the result of the explosion on the tug Cynthia by which Engineer Dicksey lost his life Friday afternoon, died at 4:30 P. M. yesterday at the U. S. Marine Hospital, to which institution he was taken soon after the accident. Fireman Jno. Warren, white, who is also at the hospital as the result of the accident, and Cook Lovinier, who is at his home on South Front street, were reported as doing very well last night and are thought to be in no danger.

The dead fireman is about 35 years of age and has a wife and several children at Southport. He remained conscious until a short time before his death. His remains will be taken to Southport for interment to-day.

SAD FUNERAL YESTERDAY.

Remains of Engineer J. A. Dicksey Laid to Rest, With Odd Fellow Honors, in Bellevue Cemetery.

Impressive funeral services, attended by many friends and fellow lodgemen of the deceased, were conducted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the remains of the late Jesse Augustus Dicksey, from the residence of the family, 109 Castle street, the Rev. C. P. Paul, pastor of Southside Baptist church, officiating. The tragic circumstances of Engineer Dicksey's death on the tug Cynthia Friday afternoon, combined with the popularity of the deceased young man to make the service a very interesting and impressive one.

Cape Fear Lodge of Odd Fellows and Jeff Davis Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, of which order the deceased was a valued member, assembled at their respective halls and attended the services in a body. Live Oak Camp No. 6, Woodmen of the World, of which young Mr. Dicksey was also a member, sent a committee to represent the order, composed of Messrs. Jno E. Wood, Jno. J. Fowler, Benj. Bell, James H. Burruss and Kelly W. Jewell, the two last named having acted as pall-bearers. The other pall-bearers were from Cape Fear Lodge, I. O. O. F. and Jeff Davis Council, Jr., O. U. A. M., Messrs. B. E. Phelps, Wilbur Dosher and David K. LeGwin having represented the first named and Capt. Jessee D. Price, John Enos and B. R. King having represented the Jr. O. U. A. M.

Each of the orders to which the young man belonged sent exquisite floral designs. Those from other friends were also exceptionally fine and were numerous.

The remains were laid to rest in Bellevue cemetery with Odd Fellow honors, the service having been carried out by Col. Walker Taylor and Mr. W. L. Smith.

STRAWBERRY CROP.

Volume of Shipments This Season Are Much in Advance of Last Year.

SOME OFFICIAL FIGURES.

Carolina Fruit and Truck Growers' Journal Gives a General View of the Situation—Prospect for Vegetable Production and Prices.

Shipping Master H. T. Bauman, of East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association, advises the "Carolina Fruit and Truck Growers' Journal," from South Rocky Mount, that the strawberry movement in refrigerator cars this season, up to and including May 8th, has been as follows: From the W. & W. Railroad, 685 cars; from W., C. & A. Railroad, Chadbourn section, 598 cars; Florence, Lake City and Latta, S. C., section, 35 cars; A. & Y. Railroad, 9 cars, or a total of 1,327 cars, against 1,173 cars for the entire movement last year.

Commenting upon these figures the Journal in its issue of to-morrow will editorially say:

"In addition to this it is safe to say that the W. & W. R. R. will ship all through next week and some more or less shipments will go forward during the same time from points on the other divisions, sufficient to run the number of cars by the Fruit Growers' Express movement up to 1,500 at least. Shipments in fact will likely continue from different points in this territory up to the 25th. The express shipments also show a good, healthy increase in volume this year over last, though not quite so much as the increase by the refrigerator line or Fruit Growers' Express. Mr. Buckner, the new superintendent for this territory, reports a very satisfactory season's operations for the Southern Express Company, however. Although the first shipment of berries did not yield such returns as the growers had confidently looked forward to, nevertheless the season has been much longer than usual, and the total amount of business will be so largely in excess of last year that it is safe to say that fully as much money will be distributed down here among the growers as a whole for the 1903 crop as was received by them last year. Of course the profits will not be so great to the producers, but where they have lost in one way they have in part made good the loss otherwise. With anything like good prices for the vegetable and potato crops, the growers will again be in the saddle."

"The outlook is favorable for a good cantaloupe and melon crop, while blackberries have already begun to move, and the crop this year will be about up to the average for this variety of fruit in this section. The potato crop is improving very much as the season wears on under better weather conditions, and the same may be said of beans, cucumbers, squashes, beets and cauliflower. Many potato farmers, realizing that the crop has been cut short in the Savannah and Charleston sections below us and likewise in the Eastern Shore and tidewater sections of Virginia above us, as well as throughout the great potato producing districts of the West and middle West, have been engaged several days now in the work of replanting potato fields, all of which will come along a little later. In fact, it would seem from present indications that the Irish potato crop in North Carolina will be about the largest in any part of the country, and is expected to yield the growers some very handsome returns. Huckleberries will be coming on a little later, also, although the crop this year will be very much short of last year, we should say as much as 25 to 33 per cent. There will be a good many huckleberries, however, as the first reports of damage by frost were somewhat exaggerated."

BOARD OF PUBLIC CHARITIES.

Local Visitors This Week Made Inspection of County Home and Jail.

Messrs. J. T. Kerr, A. G. Hankins and R. M. Wescott, the visiting committee for the State Board of Public Charities, visited the county home and jail this week, and gave them a thorough examination and found them in very good condition, indeed. They recommended that the white man, "John Unknown," who is at the Home, and in bad mental condition, be taken from there to where he can be better cared for.

The committee received a letter of thanks from the assistant secretary of the State Board for its comprehensive report upon the condition of the convict camp at Castle Haynes. The State Board then asked for a report upon the condition of the man at the home named John "Unknown."

Major Newton Will Inspect,

Col. T. H. Bain, of Goldsboro, Inspector General of the North Carolina National Guard, was in Raleigh last week, and told Col. Alfred Williams that Major Lundeen, who was to have made the inspection for the government, had been detailed on other duties, and would be succeeded by Major John Newton, of the Sixteenth Infantry, now stationed at Fort McPherson, Georgia. The inspection was to have begun this week, together with the annual State inspection, but it may be that Major Newton's duties will conflict so that it will have to be postponed. He will be in Raleigh in a few days to confer as to details.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 10.

THE NEGRO IN JAMAICA AND THE UNITED STATES.

In the current number of The North American Review there is an exhaustive and an interestingly presented article on the negro problem by Mr. Alfred R. Colquohoun, a distinguished English writer and traveller. He has travelled the world over, not simply to travel and see, as many do, but to observe and study the countries he visits and the people he goes among. He has studied the negroes of Africa, of the islands and of this country, their relations to other races, their good points and their bad points, and the indications of progress or decline.

He comes as near discussing the question without bias either way, as to white or black, as any one we have read after, and the fact that he is a foreigner and a neutral may perhaps better qualify him to discuss it than is the Northern man who views it either from a sympathetic, sectional or partisan standpoint, or the Southern white men who draws a line which the negro is not permitted to cross and contends that there is an inherent, essential, an ineradicable difference between the races which will make it forever impossible for the negro to ascend to the plane of the white race, a position in which he has the history of the negro race, as far as it has been written, with him from the beginning.

Of course he speaks of the negro as a race, and does not ignore the fact that some are endowed with a finer brain and more intelligence than others and are capable of very respectable attainment. But even in the exceptions to the rule it will be found that there is a noticable indication of white blood in many of those who have risen much above the negro level.

It is the difference of opinion on this question of the capabilities of the race for enlightenment and advancement that forms the basis of agitation and makes a race problem, for if it were generally admitted that the negro is incapable of development to the extent of becoming an intelligent voter, who would exercise his own judment and vote as a man, not as a machine, there would be little disposition to contend for his exercise of the franchise, and then there would be no ground for agitation on that line, the difference of opinion on this question being the only ground there is for it now.

In the course of his article, after speaking at some length on the conditions in this country, he draws the following comparison between the emancipated negroes of Jamaica and the emancipated and enfranchised negroes of the South:

Jamaica should be carefully studied by all who are interested in the future of the negro. The conditions of life there were very similar to those in the South in the ante-bellum days. Since that time there has been no industrial development, and there is still no white competition; but still the parallel is sufficiently close to be very instructive. The commercial depression of the West Indies was unfavorable to the development of the negro, but in spite of it he has made strides. In morality, for instance, there is a remarkable improvement; crime is comparatively rare and trivial.

It is no exaggeration to say that a woman can go from one end of the island to the other in perfect safety. In industry a great advance has been made. The roads and public works are all the fruit of native labor, many of the foremen and overseers being also colored men. In Central America in developing the coast lands, the Jamaican negroes are in great request and are practically indispensable in that region, nor would it be possible to construct a transisthmian canal without them. Large employers of Jamaica laborers, who have expeperience of negroes in the Southern States, speak of the superior docility and industry of the former. Finally, a word of praise must be given to the West Indian soldier, whose white officer speaks of him with pride and affection.

There is a striking contrast between the status of the negro in Jamaica and in America. In the former, it is not only possible, but customary, for the Governor to entertain any colored man of standing, and many of the Government offices are open to them. The writer can speak from experience of the capacity and intelligence displayed by such men. There is no restriction in cars, theatres or hotels, and yet there is far less chance of insolence or intrusiveness on the part of the negro. On the country roads every man or woman greets the white traveller with a bow or curtsey. "Marnin', massa," or "missus," and as often as not is answered with "Morning, uncle" or "auntie!"

What is the reason of this difference n the relations of the two races? In the first place, the Jamaican negro labors under no sense of injustice. He has not been taught to consider himself the absolute equal of the white man; but, at the same time, he knows that he will be treated according to his deserts if he rises above the level of his race. Racial fusion is out of the question; but on his merits he can raise himself in the eyes of the world, both black and white. He respects himself accordingly, and regards himself, often with touching naivete, as an integral and valuable part of the Empire. Meet him where you may, he pats himself on the chest, and says, with a grin, "British subject, sar!"

The great panacea suggested for the evils of the condition of the negro race is education. It is interesting to note that in Jamaica education has been, until quite recently, very defective and unscientific. Nevertheless, the Jamaican negro, while less "up-to-date" in some ways, is undoubtedly a better, wiser, more useful man than his American brother; without any "problems" to worry him; advancing slowly but surely along the paths of progress towards material prosperity and spiritual enlightenment. There is no need to quote statistics in proof of this. The phenomenon I have cited can be observed by the merest globe-trotter. The important point is the existence in this island of a system by which blacks and whites live together, enjoying the same privileges, and to a great extent the same opportunities, without race fusion, and without race hatred. The whites, numerically small, are and have always been politically the stronger (since the reconstruction which was necessary after the first period of freedom.) In a word, the white man has ruled and influenced the black, and because he has done so openly and legally the negro has not resented the situation, and because their relations are clearly defined the white can afford to treat the negro with generosity and sympathy.

The sum and substance of this is that the negro of Jamaica is tractable, reliable and industrious, because he has not been fooled nor demoralized nor spoiled by any fool nations imbibed from the teachings of white men who had a selfish motive in many cases for so teaching, or from the teachings of their own men who in many cases were used as tools by the white men who had use for the negro. But the conditions in Jamaica and in the South were entirely different, for there was no severance of the friendly relations between the races when emancipation came, there were no politicians to play upon the negro and fill him with inflated notions of his importance, or make him believe that he was in every way the equal of the white man. They never had any race problem to solve because the negroes got all they expected, and as there was no scramble for office, there was nothing in politics to make them fool away their time on that. But as an object lesson the negro of the South would profit by taking as an exemplar the negro of Jamaica, who, fortunately for him, was never thrust out of his sphere by foolish and wicked legislation, and by foolish or unscrupulous leaders, as the negroes of the South have been.

AS AN UPLIFTER.

The Topeka, Kansas, State Journal editor isn't one of the fellows who agree with Dr. Parkhurst that President Roosevelt is an "accident," but on the contrary believes that he is the whole thing and as an uplifter without a peer now or heretofore. His swing 'round has been an uplifting tour from the very beginning, but this seems to have escaped most people, many of whom saw in it a tour mainly for the uplifting of the strenuous tourist, until he struck Topeka, and left his uplifting impress upon that community where all at once it struck the editor of the Journal who heralded it in the following, which we present framed in the comments of the New York Sun, which is a warm admirer (in its characteristic way) of the distinguished uplifter.

Our philosophical contemporary, the Topeka State-Journal, has made a really illuminating study of the psychology of Mr. Roosevelt's excursion. It would be impertinent to try to summarize this remarkable essay on what may be called the new peripatetic thought. The title is "The President's Uplift:"

"Wherever the President goes his influence as a man, as well as that of a beloved President, is most stimulating and uplifting. Every one of the thousands of citizens of Topeka who saw and heard Roosevelt must have felt the good effects of his presence exemplified in his words and his actions. His address at the Auditorium was characteristic of the man, and along lines he delights to depict. He spoke of human fellowship; of the aid one good man may and does give to his fellow; of work and love, saying that no man is happy if he does not work and using the word love in its broad sense of both desire and labor for the welfare of our fellows. He delights to speak of character, which he feels a compound of many qualities. His spirit is ever hopeful and was well stated in his expressions: 'I have a great deal of faith in the average American citizen.'

"Every community touched by the President on his tour, receives from him some good from the constant influences that spark from his words and actions like glints from an emery wheel. His speech and conduct are wholesome to the extreme, his simplicity of speech and sincerity of thought are pronounced and the uplift is immeasurable."

From time to time men and women of generous but restricted aim have made efforts to elevate the stage, the drama, the standards of athletics, commercial life and so on. The elevation of the whole country is a far grander and more heroic task, worthy of an enthusiastic and a strenuous character. It is refreshing to think of Mr. Roosevelt radiating good influence over thousands of miles, uplifting crowds of his fellow citizens and school children and leaving good in every town from which his train pulls out.

And in uplifting the country he is necessarily uplifting himself. By a beautiful consequence, in doing good to others he does good to himself.

A Morristown, N. J., woman, who had a husband who wasn't over fond of work, found herself a grass widow about eleven months ago, when he lit out for new pastures, the only word he left being that he would never come back until he could bring a turkey with him. A few days ago a dressed turkey came by express from Sister's Lake, in Michigan, accompanied by a note telling her that he had met "Uncle George" and for her to come right on and bring the kids with her. She didn't see the wherewith with which to do that, but when she came to fix up that turkey for a roast she found it already stuffed, with a wad of bank bills, one of hubby's little jokes. She and the kids ate the turkey and are presumably by this time at Sister's Lake, Mich.

When the millionaire gambler Adams entered on his term in Sing Sing he didn't sing. He is now engaged in sorting straws to make mats.

APPROACHING A CRISIS.

It seems from the latest dispatches in reference to the situation in Manchuria that Russia has thrown off the mask and is preparing for action, to hold her grip by force, if the protesting powers appeal to force. While China will be pushed forward by the interested powers, she will be an insignificant factor in the game, for the real factors on one side will be Great Britain, Japan and the United United States, although poor old China will have to bear the brunt of the racket.

If it comes to a clash Russia could, with the soldiers she already has within striking distance, and those she could put in the field within a few weeks, have an army on the march which could squelch China before her backers could come to the rescue. She has been preparing for this for the past three or four years, and she has been fooling the other powers by pretending that she didn't mean to do anything that would affect any interests they may have in China. They seem to have been buncoed by these representations and now some of them charge Russia with deliberately "lying" to them.

But in the event of a clash will it be China, backed by Great Britain, Japan and the United States, against Russia lone-handed? Where will Germany and France be? Neutral? Kaiser William is quoted as saying that he isn't interested in the Manchurian business to the extent of taking an active part in it, which simply means that there is a secret understanding between him and the Czar, while Russia and France have an alliance that may bring her into the rumpus before it progresses far, and the upshot may be, if the clash does come, that before it progresses far we may find Great Britain, Japan, the United States and China on one side, and on the other Russia, Germany and France, and then we would have a Titanic struggle, all about trade in China, which would make China's trade a very costly business.

This would be practically a world war, the desire to avoid which may lead to some sort of a diplomatic patch-up. But Russia will hold her grip on Manchuria.

Mr. Barton, of Washington, has spells of dreaming, and the dreams that he dreams in these spells always come true, like the Chicago woman with a bad eye who "never wished a wish that didn't come true." Mr. Barton dreamed that the Galveston catastrophe was going to happen, he dreamed that McKinley was going to be assassinated, and he has dreamed other things that have materialized. His latest dream is that Roosevelt in the race for the Presidency will be distanced by a Democrat from New York. He has dreamed who the Democrat is, too, but won't tell.

Some time ago a Chicago architect declared that the steel structures in that city were being destroyed by an insect that bored into the steel; and since, a committee of architects in New York says that if a steel frame building be placed on a cement foundation, resting on work or upon cement piling and covered with paint, it will last forever. That is as long as any reasonable person should expect it to last.

CURRENT COMMENT

—— If his education has given him no higher ambition than to be leader of one of those Haytien revolutions, William Pickens, the negre who took the prize for oratory at Yale, had been wiser to stick to the cotton field.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— The victory of the debating team from North Carolina University over the Johns Hopkins students is another evidence of the good work that is being done in Southern colleges, and goes to prove that numbers and large endowments do not always mean the highest scholarship. We congratulate our neighbors on the South.—Norfolk Ledger, Dem.

—— A negro preacher of Baltimore said in New York the other night that "Christian education" and not "industrial education" was what the negro needed. What the negro needs is to be let alone by the theorists and small fry "deliverers" of his own as well as of the white race. Until he gets some sort of industrial education he will make a very indifferent Christian.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— Monday's Philadelphia Press had a striking cartoon of the Republican elephant led by Roosevelt and drawing a high-plled car of Prosperity. The artist's drawing of Bolivar's hind legs, however, was about as untrue as the prosperity, considering that on the same page of the Press was the announcement that "4,000 plasterers have joined the army"—mark the word—"of the unemployed."—Augusta Chronicle.

REV. MARY BAKER EDDY'S GIFT.

A New Christian Science Church to be Erected in City of Concord, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., May 6.

Through the generous gift of the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy the Christian Scientists of Concord, N. H., are to have one of the finest church structures in the Granite State. The plans for this edifice were presented at a largely attended church meeting tonight, and work will begin upon the new structure in the near future. The gift of Mrs. Eddy includes the desirable lot of land now occupied by the Christian Science Hall in the heart of the city, at the corner of State and School streets, and is without doubt one of the finest locations in Concord for a church building.

In addition to the gift of this choice location Mrs. Eddy presents to the church a cash donation of $100,000 making her total present represent the sum of $120,000.

The church will be built of Concord granite as specified by Mrs. Eddy in her original deed of trust and first announced in the Concord Monitor of March 19, 1898. In response to an inquiry from the editor of that paper Mrs. Eddy made the following statement:

"On January 31, 1898 I gave a deed of trust to three individuals which conveyed to them the sum of $100,000 to be appropriated in building a granite church edifice for First Church of Christ, Scientist in this city."

Very truly,
MARY BAKER EDDY.

In the fall of 1897 Mrs. Eddy purchased the property opposite the High School and adjoining the State Capitol, and after remodeling the mansion into a Hall and Reading Rooms at a total outlay of $30,000, she presented Christian Science Hall and grounds to the local members for their use.

On February 23d, 1899, First Church of Christ, Scientist, was organized with a membership of 78. The congregation has outgrown its present quarters and the new church is required to accommodate the increased membership which has been so remarkable.

The church will be built of the same beautiful Concord granite of which the National Library Building in Washington is constructed. The architecture will be Gothic, and in proportion and outline it will be in keeping with modern ideas of a church building. It is intended that the pews of the church shall cost $1,000.

The trustees of the building fund, who will have the oversight of the construction of the new edifice, are Messrs. Fred N. Ladd, Josiah E. Dwight and J. Wesley Plummer. Mr. Francis B. Allen of Boston has been employed as architect.

The present First Reader of the Church is Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson; Second Reader, Miss Mary E. Tomlinson.

The meeting to-night sent to the generous donor the following letter of appreciation and gratitude:

REV. MARY BAKER EDDY,
Pleasant View, Concord, N. H.

Beloved Teacher and Leader:—

The members of the Concord church are filled with profound joy and deep gratitude that your generous gift of $100,000 is to be used at once to build a beautiful church edifice for your followers in the Capitol City of your native State. We rejoice that the prosperity of the Cause in your home city, where, without regard to class or creed, you are so highly esteemed, makes necessary the commodious and beautiful church home you have so freely bestowed. We thank you for this renewed evidence of your unselfish love."

Since the congregation has already outgrown the accommodations of Christian Science Hall, building operations will be begun at an early date. The citizens of Concord regard Mrs. Eddy's generosity with favor and are greatly pleased that another splendid building is to be added to the handsome edifices of the Capital City.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— It is better to overlook a wrong than to be suspicious of one.

— It is better to do with less than you can use than to want more than you need.

— It is better to think of the blessings you have than of those you do not possess.

— We attract hearts by the qualities we display; we retain them by the qualities we possess.

— Let it be our happiness this day to add to the happiness of those around us, to comfort some sorrow, to relieve some want, to add some strength to our neighbor's virtue.—Channing.

— Count no duty too little, no round of life too small, no work too low, if it comes in thy way, since God thinks so much of it as to send his angels to guard thee in it.—Mark Guy Pearse.

— Every new experience is a new opportunity of knowing God. Every new experience is like a jewel set into the texture of our life, on which God shines and makes interpretation and revelation of himself.

— Every true man or woman is a conductor of that mysterious life giving power of truth and love which we know as the Holy Spirit because it ever seeks to make holy spirits of us.—Chas. G. Ames.

— All we want in Christ we shall find in Christ. If we want little, we shall find little; if we want much, we shall find much; and if, in utter helplessness, we cast our all on Christ, he will be to us the whole treasury of God.—Bishop Whipple.

— When a friend of mine is taken into the next life, I do not ask to know if he is at once happy. I ask only to know if he has gone into the discipline of perfect justice. I would not be afraid to give up my dearest to that.—Thomas Starr King.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Kinston Free Press: Cabbage are going from here in large shipments new, carload consignments leaving here in every day. With a little rain and favorable conditions the height will be reached about the middle of next week.

— Smithfield Herald: In digging up and old stump on the land of Jno. Game, Esq., in Boon Hill township one day this week, Chas. Game unearthed six Spanish coins bearing the dates of 1782 and 1792. A thorough search has failed to show up any more wealth.

— Siler City Messenger: Mr. T. L. Chisholm, of Sanford, has a cow that he owned for 1000 days She has given them 2000 gallons milk, which, at 30c. per gallon, is $600. Cost of cow $50; cost of feed $150. Balance in his favor $400, and a cow worth $75. Net profit $475.

— Sanford Express: Farmers say hands are scarce, as they are employed at the saw mills and on the railroads. The scarcity of hands in this county and section was partially caused by many of the negroes going to the coal fields of West Virginia during the past few months. They get more for their work than the farmers can afford to pay them.

— Salisbury Sun: Mr. Richard Eames, Jr., manager of the Salisbury Copper Company, went down to their property yesterday and begun work developing the mine from the bottom of the 16-foot shaft. He brought back some of the finest specimens of copper ore ever seen in Salisbury, ranging in value from 20 per cent. to 50 per cent. in copper and from $2 to $6 per ton in gold.

— Whiteville News: We heard of one man near Cerro Gordo who had already sold six hundred dollars worth of strawberries off of one and three-quarter acres and will get nearly one hundred crates more. —— The farmers around Clarkton are going into the cucumber business. A pickling factory will be put up there and they are guaranteed fifty cents per buahel for their cucumbers that are not more than three and one half inches long. Some tell us that they can raise from three to four hundred bushels per acre.

— Washington Progres: Mr. Ed. J. Rose, the carnival high diver, met with a most serious accident on Thursday afternoon last. He had a new ladder, 80 feet high. It was made ready and he ascended. When he reached the top one of the guy ropes gave away. He discovered it, and made a most wonderful descent of about fifty feet, when the ladder broke beneath him, precipitating him to the stone pavement below, a distance of about thirty feet. His left ankle was completely shattered, and the right one dislocated. Five physicians dressed and set the fractures. He has suffered intense pain, and it is thought that the left ankle will have to be amputated. The ladder was 1½ by 3½ inches, of white pine, and the rungs were of brash oak. The wonder is how he escaped death.

R. A. Biddle, clerk at 19 Market street, residing at 606 Castle street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills myself for kidney trouble and my wife who also suffered from backache also used them. I never knew anything to act so quickly. I have suffered quite a long time with my back and kidneys. The kidney secretions were very dark and full of sediment. My wife also complained of her back, and when we read of Doan's Kidney Pills in our newspapers I went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. We used them with the best of results. In my case the kidney secretions cleared up and the pains left my back. We have neither of us complained since taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and it is with pleasure that I recommend them at every opportunity."

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)

Costs Only 25 cents at Druggists, Or mail 25 cents to C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Cures Cholera-Infantum, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, and the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age. Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Strengthens the Child and Makes TEETHING EASY.

FLORENCE, S. C., Nov. 26, 1900.—I was first advised by our family physician in Charleston to use TEETHINA with our baby when he was but a very young infant, as a preventive of colic and to warm and sweeten the stomach. Later it was useful in teething troubles, and its effect has been found to be so very beneficial and so free from dangers that are consequent upon the use of drugs and soothing syrups, that we have come to regard it, after use with three children, as one of the necessities when there is a new baby in the house and until the teething troubles are over, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our friends instead of the horrid stuff that so many people use to keep their baby quiet. ## The Eleventh Hour

By LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

Copyright, 1901, by L. A. Browne

"Oh, Tom," cried Kathryn Hill as she unceremoniously entered Tom Cate's studio with the air of one always certain of a welcome, "I've found just the word I wanted for my story. You know that hateful Miss Squills had 'dynamorphosteopalinklaster' in"—

"Merciful heavens, Kit!" exclaimed Tom in mock horror. "Come up early next Sunday morning and bring the rest of it with you. Besides, can't you see I am terribly busy this morning?"

"Pot boiler, isn't it?" she asked as she glanced carelessly at the sketch, and as Tom nodded, his mouth being occupied with various drawing implements, she continued lightly: "Oh, bother! Let it wait, Tommo, and listen to me."

"No, Kitty, dear," he made answer solemnly. "It is an unhappy fact that a poor artist's masterpiece may wait indefinitely, while his pot boilers must be finished at a specified time; but you may talk to me just the same, only, please, please do not leave any more such words lying around loose for me to become entangled in."

"Now, Tom, do not become desperate, will you, when I tell you I have another word about twice as long? You see, as I was trying to tell you, that horrid Miss Squills used the word 'dyn' "—

"Stop!" commanded Tom, with a look of horror and a wave of his unoccupied arm.

"That little word, Tommo, dear, is the name of an instrument used for the breaking of falsely united fractures, and Miss Squills worked it into her story of 'A Surgeon's Love.' Gus Burleigh spoke in such praises of her apparent knowledge, all through her use of that word, that I became a tiny, wee bit jealous, so I"—

"Gus Burleigh!" sneered Tom. "What does he"—

"I have the floor, sir," interposed Kitty. "You're out of order. Allow me to continue, if you please. I have a story mapped out that will positively put hers to shame."

"Make it look like thir"—

"Hush, Tommo, don't use that dreadful slang phrase. I shall call my story 'The Dentist's Daughter,' and the new word I have just learned and intend to use is 'methylbenzoinethoxyethelytetrahydropyridinecarboxylate!' Now, isn't that a—a"—

"Corker!" ejaculated Tom.

"Well, yes, it is all that," admitted Kitty, "and don't you think Gus will consider me marvelously learned when he sees that?"

"If he ever tries to pronounce it, you will be obliged to come out in black for the poor boy, but does it—er—mean anything in particular?"

"Certainly it does, goosie! It is chemical for cocaine."

Tom worked in silence a few moments before he said:

"Er—Kit, I suppose our long standing and successful platonic friendship will soon be a thing of the past, eh?"

"Not necessarily, Tommo, dear. I'm sure Gus will be sensible," was her sober reply.

"It will be an innovation for him, then," Tom could not refrain from saying with ill concealed savageness.

"May I inquire when the momentous event will take place?"

"If you think you should know, I have promised to give him a definite answer tonight," she confessed.

"Tonight!" he echoed. "What a coincidence! To tell you the truth, as is due you, Kit, I intend to throw myself at the feet of Clara Rogertly tonight. Shake!" He put out his ink stained hand and clasped hers, but neither cared to look each other in the eye.

"Too bad we were never suited for each other, now, wasn't it, Kittie?" he asked, with a forced laugh, after a depressing silence.

"That is not for me to say, sir," she replied with assumed dignity, "but be careful, Tom, dear, remember we are such an excellent example of true platonic friendship to all our friends and acquaintances."

"To be sure," he hastened to affirm. "And, say, Kit, this—this—our proposed step will never change all that, will it?"

"Never, Tommo, never!" she answered him, whereupon they shook hands, and Tom procured a bottle of ale from his icebox, used in the concoction of rarebits. Of this they drank twice, once for her "intended" and again for his "intended," as Tom gravely worded it.

While he was replacing the bottle and glasses Kathryn leaned over the easel to examine Tom's "pot boiler." In so doing she tipped over a vase, catching it before it fell, but scratching her wrist upon one of the metal tipped arrows it contained.

It was but a mere scratch, yet it pleased her fancy to tease him by pretending serious injury.

"Oh, Tommo, Tommo," she cried, "see how your ugly old arrows have scratched me!" And she held up her plump wrist that he might see the little red scratch upon which a few red drops were slowly appearing.

Tom turned white as the lace encircling her wounded wrist as his glance took in what had happened. He sprang and picked her up in his arms, placing her upon a couch, from which he brushed the accumulation of books, pipes and tobacco jars with a sweep of his arm.

"My God, Kit!" he cried. "Those were poisoned arrows; some that were sent on from the accursed Philippines! Oh, Kittie, [illegible] inside the coach, [illegible] in his arms, "what shall I do?"

She became [illegible] as Tom, as she realized what had happened, yet she smiled.

"You might try a doctor," she suggested, seeing he was [illegible].

Tom heard her murmur something about "doctor" and made a dash for the telephone. It seemed ages before central connected him with a physician. After telling the doctor to come as quick as God would let him he returned to Kit, who was lying white and still, with closed eyes.

Tom placed the wounded wrist to his lips and endeavored to draw out the poison from the scratch. Kathryn opened her eyes.

"Tommo, dear," she whispered.

"Kittie, oh, my darling, tell me, do you feel better? Oh, what a fool I have been—what a blind fool! It is you, only you, whom I love!" cried Tom, with deep emotion.

Her disengaged arm went around his neck. "You were not alone, Tommo, dear," she said. "I have been another fool. And now, oh, Tom, is it too late?"

Just then the doctor arrived. Tom told him in a few words what had occurred.

The doctor examined the arrows and commenced to laugh heartily.

"Poisoned fiddlesticks!" he ejaculated. "Why, those things are made right here in town, just to sell!"

"What!" shrieked Kathryn as she landed upon her feet with a bound.

"Thank God!" murmured Tom as he sank into a chair.

The doctor daubed a little collodion upon the scratched wrist and left the room, laughing.

Tom sat staring at Kathryn as she wound her handkerchief about her wrist. His gaze was so steady she blushed and turned away.

"Kittie," he said entreatingly, "did you mean what you said?"

"What did I say?" she asked in a low voice without looking at him.

"You know what I mean, Kittie. Do you yet think we have been fools? I do!" he said eagerly.

"Thanks!" she said, with a poorly assumed dignity.

"Oh, Kit, Kit," he said as he went to her, "won't you say 'No' to Gus tonight?"

"If you will stay away from Clara's," she whispered.

"This will be an awful blow to platonic friendship as well as to some people whom we know," said Tom as he handed Kathryn into a carriage half an hour later.

A Black, Hard Name.

Few persons are aware that the Chinese language is dependent on intonation for its meaning and that a slight difference in sound may so distort a person's meaning that a courteous salutation may be turned into a cause for regret.

A young woman in San Francisco, who had become interested in the Chinese there, went to one of the men who owned a paper in which he wrote both Chinese and English editorials, and asked him to teach her some phrases. When told that the language consisted of something like a small library or two of reference books, she was about ready to back out. However, being anxious to learn even a few things about the mysterious people, she undertook a lesson or two.

The young lady being apt at learning new things, thought she was better posted than she was and, meeting the teacher on the street one afternoon, put her newly acquired information to the test.

It was with unusual confidence that she bade him "good afternoon" in a blithe voice and was stepping down from the curb to cross the street.

"Wait," said the editor. "I cannot let you go, Miss C., without explaining. You think you said a good day, to me, but instead you have called me a very black, hard name."

A Wary Youngster.

Some of the small boys who get into a business life young can be relied upon for good common sense. A man in one of the big shops uptown was much pleased at this attribute in a boy he employed. He was a bright, honest boy, quick and reliable, and when a second boy was needed they sent for Sam. Couldn't he get them a boy? They wanted a boy as good as he was, and he must know of one. After some thought he finally agreed to send one, and the next day the boy arrived, and Sam was called to identify him.

"Do you know this boy, Sam?" asked the employer.

"Yes," answered Sam. "I know him."

"And you know him to be a good, honest boy?"

"I have played with him all my life, and I have always thought he was."

"But you will vouch for him?" persisted the employer.

"No," answered Sam indignantly, "I won't vouch for any one. I wouldn't vouch for my own brother. How do I know what temptations you are going to put before him?"—New York Times.

A Mighty Serious Thing.

"You printed my death notice, and that's no joke."

"But, my dear sir, that's not my fault. It's the fact that you are alive that makes it no joke."

There was a subtleness to this that made it most annoyingly puzzling.—Chicago Post.

A Startling Test.

To save a life Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test, resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for Acute Stomach and Liver troubles, so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in fourteen months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranted for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c, at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

Bug Death

Kills Potato, Squash and Cucumber Bugs, Currant and Tomato Worms, and all bugs and worms that chew the leaves of plants.

BUG DEATH is a tenacious powder, very fine, like dust, adheres to the vine, and is almost impossible to wash off.

BUG DEATH can be applied dry with Perfection Shaker or a coarse cloth, or, what is better, mixed with water at the rate of 1 pound to 5 gallons water, and sprayed with any of the hand sprayers.

Bug Death Kills the bugs. Feeds the plant. Increases the yield. Produces better quality

The phenomenal sale BUG DEATH has had during the comparatively short time it has been on the American and Canadian markets, and the hearty endorsement given by truckers and merchants throughout both countries must convince the most skeptical that it has all the merits claimed for it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 10.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT.

A Fireman Discharged for Good of Service

The Free Delivery System—Suspension of Mr. August W. Machen

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Postmaster General Payne to-day dismissed James Dower, a fireman employed in the Postoffice Department, as a result of charges that Dower recently filed against Chief Engineer James O'Donnell and other superior officers. Dower alleged that a ring to govern promotions and other matters existed in the engine room and that improper contracts had been made. The charges were investigated by a postoffice inspector and the report does not sustain them. The postmaster general announced to-day that as the action of Dower in "making the frivolous and scandalous charges, giving them publicity and then failing utterly to sustain them, is to the detriment of the service and subversive of all discipline, the discharge of Dower is ordered for the good of the service."

Postoffice Inspector Fosnes to-day took charge of the free delivery service. General Superintendent Machen, who was relieved from duty yesterday, did not appear to turn over the office. He sent word that he was too ill to come.

Seymour W. Tulloch, the former cashier of the Washington city postoffice, who in a newspaper interview made grave charges against the administration of the postal service at the time of his removal several years ago, was in the city to-day.

"It is a curious coincident," said Mr. Tulloch, "that the suspension of Mr. Machen follows so closely the receipt of the replies to the letters the postmaster general sent regarding my statements. If the truth was told the information those replies contained must have fully borne out everything that I have said. Mr. Bristow is a thoroughly honest and I believe fearless investigator, and his reply must have embodied data of which the postmaster general had not been previously aware. I regard my statements as substantiated in those replies. If the replies already in exonerates the officials accused, the letters would have been immediately made public. The department now knows all about the conditions I have referred to."

TRAGEDY AT PITTSBURG, PA.

J. F. Kuntz Shot His Wife Probably Fatally and Then Killed J. E. Walsh, of Whom He Was Jealous.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 9.—J. F. Kuntz put two bullets into the body of his wife, from the effects of which she may die, and then shot to death J. E. Walsh, a wealthy contractor of this city, of whom he was jealous. Since the death of Mrs. Walsh, six or eight months ago, Mrs. Kuntz has been employed as Mr. Walsh's housekeeper. To-night Walsh and Mrs. Kuntz were walking down the street together and Kuntz coming up behind the couple put a bullet in Walsh. Mrs. Kuntz tried to escape and Kuntz fired at her, the shot bringing the woman to the ground. Walsh had been prostrated by the bullet that struck him and Kuntz put three more bullets into him to make his work sure. He then turned his attention to his wife and shot her a second time. Walsh was dead when picked up and Mrs. Kuntz was taken to a hospital, where the physicians say she can hardly recover.

Kuntz was arrested on the spot by the citizens, who were attracted by the shooting. He will make no statement, but it is believed that divorce proceedings instituted by his wife precipitated the trouble.

STRANDED ON OCRACOKE.

Portuguese Barque With 240 Emigrants on board bound for New Bedford.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, May 9.—A special from Beaufort, N. C., says: The Portuguese bark Vera Cruz, from Cape Verde Islands, bound for New Bedford, is stranded on Ocracoke bar, about two hundred yards from the beach. Her cargo consists of thirty tons of whale oil and some bone. She carries two hundred and forty emigrants, mostly women, all Portuguese, bound for New Bedford. The station house crew at Portsmouth have rescued sixty passengers and landed them at Portsmouth where they will be taken care of. The crew will save the balance of the passengers and crew. The vessel is in a very dangerous position. The wind is strong from the northeast and the sea is very heavy.

THE SITUATION IS NOT SO STRAINED.

State Department Advised That Russian Troops Have Withdrawn from New Chang.

NO OCCASION FOR ACTION.

The Situation, Consequently, Lapses Back to Where It Was After the Original Russian Disclaimer Regarding Evacuation of Manchuria

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The State Department received from Minister Conger confirmation of the Associated Press dispatch from Pekin that the Russians re-entered New Chwang and then retired.

The receipt of this advice late in the day brought relief to a strained situation and it was decided by the department that there was no longer occasion for action, even diplomatically, at this stage. Count Cassini, in the course of his talk with Secretary Hay to-day, very earnestly impressed upon the secretary his conviction that the Russian government had lived up to its agreements and in view of these representations Secretary Hay did not hesitate to dissipate the impression that might have existed that there remained any need for diplomatic action relative to Manchuria by the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The situation, consequently, lapses back to where it was after the original Russian disclaimer, which followed the demands upon China two weeks ago, and for the present the attitude of the government will simply be one of observance.

Ridiculed by Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—The Foreign Office here strongly deprecates the excitement concerning Manchuria, and believes mischief makers are responsible for the reports, and says the arrival of troops at New Chwang was due to the retirement of troops from Moukden province southward instead of northward. The troops depart by sea. The other alleged warlike preparations of Russia are ridiculed.

Pekin Mystified.

PEKIN, May 9.—The official at New Chwang who sent yesterday's news of Russia's alleged action at New Chwang and elsewhere in Manchuria telegraphs to-day that the occupation of the new forts at the mouth of Liao river was temporary and that the Russians have now withdrawn.

Official circles at Pekin are mystified. Their subordinates at New Chwang have not reported the reoccupation of that place; hence there is a disposition to question the correctness of the information, although the author of yesterday's story is generally considered to be one of the ablest and best informed foreigners in China.

Japan Disappointed.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Mr. Takahiri, the Japanese minister, had a long interview with Secretary Hay at the State Department to-day. He manifested deep concern over the Manchurian situation, but declared that the legation was without official advices, in the absence of which he did not care to discuss the matter. There is an intimation that Japan is disappointed at the character of the support she has received from other powers up to this time in her efforts to stop Russia's alleged aggression. Mr. Takahiri stated that there has been nothing in the movement of the Japanese navy that could be construed as a menace to Russia.

"The movements of Japan's warships," said the minister, "are simply incidental to our spring naval manœuvres and are devoid of political significance, as were our naval manœuvres in the Carribbean last winter."

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, said to-day: "When the whole truth is known it will be found that Russia has not violated a single pledge made to any nation, nor does she intend to do so. Moreover, whatever steps have been taken in Manchuria are only in self-defence."

The count called in person at the Department of State about noon to talk over the Manchurian situation with Secretary Hay, and it is supposed that he conveyed assurances on the same lines to the secretary.

As Viewed in Paris.

PARIS, May 9.—Commenting on the Manchurian situation, the officials here say the French ambassador at St. Petersburg has had an interview on the subject with Foreign Minister Lamsdorf, which brought out a repetition of the statement that Russia had given positive assurances to the United States that there would be no interruption of the open-door policy in Manchuria.

The view held here is that Russia's assurances fully protect the United States' commercial interests. The reoccupation of New Chwang by Russian troops is claimed to be a wholly political issue between Russia, Great Britain and Japan, and as not involving American commerce or any other American interest.

London Without Official News.

LONDON, May 9.—The British Foreign Office is without any official news of the Russian action at New Chwang. The subject has not been mentioned by either the British ambassador at St. Petersburg or the British charge d'affaires at Pekin. The Foreign Office here also has not been informed of any intention on the part of the U. S. of co-operation with Great Britain and Japan in a joint protest. Such co-operation would be warmly welcomed and would come as a pleasant surprise to Downing street in view of the State Department's declination hitherto to act "jointly" with Great Britain, though admittedly working for a common object. In view of the vigorous protests addressed to Russia in the interim the Foreign Office does not believe she is likely to take seriously aggressive steps in the near future.

MISSIONARY MATTERS AT THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Pledges for Foreign Missions—Troubles of Rev. A. J Diaz of Cuba—Convention Meets Next Year in Nashville.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 9.—The Southern Baptist convention devoted most of the day and evening to considering missionary matters Foreign missions occupied the morning and afternoon session and home missions the night session. Last year at the Asheville convention the foreign mission board asked for $300,000. It was given $318,000 during the year. It was proposed that the sum for foreign mission work should be not less than $350,000. After the call was made $280,000 was quickly pledged by the various State organizations. The announcement was received with great enthusiasm.

By States, the pledges for the foreign mission fund during the ensuing year were as follows:

Georgia, $40,000; Virginia, $40,000; Texas, $30,000; Kentucky, $30,000; North Carolina, $20,000; South Carolina, $20,000; Mississippi, $18,000; Tennessee, $15,000; Missouri, $15,000; Maryland, $8,000; Arkansas $7,000; Louisiana, $6,000; Florida, $2,500; District of Columbia $3,000; Indian Territory, $300.

It was announced by Secretary Willingham that it had been estimated that $6,000 could be raised from other sources. This gave a grand total of $280,000, an increase of $61,487.38 over that actually raised last year.

An effort was made at the morning session to change the name of the Southern Baptist Convention to that of the "Baptist Convention of the United States." A resolution to that effect was offered by Judge George Hillyer, of Atlanta.

Under the rules the resolution was sent to the table. It will be brought up at the next meeting.

The troubles of Rev. A. J. Diaz, of Cuba, came to the attention of the convention. It seems that a suit has been instituted in Havana by the members of the First Baptist church there to oust the Americans and dispossess the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention which supplied the funds for the erection of the church. Dr. W. W. Landrum, president of a commission that investigated the situation in Havana, made this report:

"There are in Havana two Baptist churches; one known as the Gethesemane church, of which Rev. A. J. Diaz is the pastor, and the second, known as the Calvary church, of which Dr. C. D. Daniel, formerly of Texas, is pastor. The First church is composed of a Cuban membership exclusively, and is not in harmony with the Southern Baptist Convention. But it is allowed by the convention to worship in the building, which the convention owns. The convention has now asked the Gethesmane church to withdraw from the building by January 1, 1904.

"The Calvary church is in perfect harmony with the convention, and after January 1, 1904, will have exclusive use of the church edifice now used jointly by both churches.

"Dr. Diaz is no longer in the employ of the convention and alleges he has grievances, asserting that the Americans desire to ecclesiastically enslave the islanders."

There was trouble between Dr. Diaz and the convention because of funds entrusted to the Cuban church that the home mission board claimed he would not account for. Dr. Diaz also made a claim for back salary that amounted to more than $10,000, that the board did not look favorable upon.

The whole Diaz matter for quite a while was the sensation of the hour. It appears not to have downed yet. It will probably come in for some discussion before the convention is over, because of the filing of the suit. The Baptists say they are absolutely sure of their title.

After a warm contest for the place of meeting of the convention next year, Nashville, Tenn., won.

GROVER CLEVELAND

Will Not be a Candidate for Nomination for the Presidency.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MADISON, WIS., May 9.—Grover Cleveland, twice president of the United States, will not be a candidate for nomination to the presidency before the Democratic National Convention. This is the opinion stated by William F. Vilas, former senator from Wisconsin, postmaster general and later secretary of the interior in Cleveland's cabinet and one of the closest political and personal friends the ex-President has in the country. Senator Vilas has recently visited the Cleveland home in Princeton and passed several days in the company of the ex-President. He has also recently corresponded with Cleveland, but neither the visit nor letter received disclose any purpose on Mr. Cleveland's part to be a candidate.

TURKO-BULGARIAN SITUATION GRAVE.

Turkish and Bulgarian Troops Are Facing Each Other on the Frontier.

SPARK MAY KINDLE A BLAZE.

Still Hope That a Collision May be Averted—Insurgent Outrages in Macedonia—Mosque in Which Were 200 Moslems Blown Up.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BERLIN, May 9.—The German government regards the Turko-Bulgarian situation as being grave, but responsible officials say that if a collision can be staved off through the summer more sober counsels can get a hearing in the winter, when military action is impossible.

Regarding the mutual recriminations of Turkey and Bulgaria in imputing bellicose purposes, the officials here say that Turkey certainly cannot wish for war, because she is unable to bear the expense, and knows beforehand that the powers would not permit territorial expansion as a result of victory. It is believed also that Bulgaria, while showing a deplorably weak attitude towards the revolutionary elements, does not desire war.

The powers have made representations at Sofia emphasizing the impossibility of allowing Bulgaria to realize the fundamental aim of its policy, namely, the acquisition of part of Macedonia. The powers know that the partition of Macedonia in favor of Bulgaria would cause Greece, Servia and other countries to raise claims for Turkish territory. Hence, the powers are unitedly determined not to permit any change in the statu quo.

Danger lies in the fact that Turkish and Bulgarian troops are facing each other on the frontier and in proximity to it, rendering a more or less accidental collision possible, which could easily grow into uncontrollable dimensions. The situation, therefore, is having a depressing effect on the German bourses and is preventing any operations on a large scale.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 9.—Thirteen Christians were killed and nineteen wounded and three Mussulmans were killed during the recent outbreak at Monastir.

In an encounter between imperial troops and a force of insurgents in the neighboring village of Zapari May 6th eleven Bulgarians were killed and seventy-four were made prisoners.

VIENNA, May 9.—A mosque at Krinpriul, in which two hundred Moslems had assembled, it was, according to a dispatch to Die Zeit from Sofia, Bulgaria, blown up with dynamite on May 2nd. The worshippers were buried in the ruins. The perpetrator of the outrage, a man named Popow, committed suicide by shooting. A paper found in one of his pockets described him as a member of the "Macedonian Knights of Death."

Arrangements have been made for the members of the Association to be quartered at the Seashore Hotel, at the rate of $1.50 per day. 4. "The Young Man and North Carolina Journalism. What Have They in Store for Each Other?"—J. W. Bailey, of the Biblical Recorder.

Efforts are being made to secure a journalist of national reputation to address the Association at the meeting. Definite and detailed announcements regarding this and all other matters connected with the meeting will be made in a later circular.

Mr. Archibald Johnson will deliver the annual oration, and Mr. J. R. Swann will read the annual poem on Wednesday night, July 1. Both the President's Address, by Mr. Marshall, on Wednesday morning, and the Historian's Paper, by Mr. C. H. Poe, on Wednesday afternoon, will be of special interest.

THE NEWS FROM RALEIGH.

Two Incorporations—Carnival Closed—A Magnificent Success.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 9.—The Hamlet Ice Co. filed a certificate to-day with the Secretary of State for the increase of the capital stock of the company from $10,000 to $25,000. Mr. Charles E. Johnson, of Raleigh, is president of the company.

A charter was issued to-day for the incorporation of the Neuse Loan and Trust Co., of Smithfield; capital $10,000. Jno. C. Ellington, the newly appointed State Bank Examiner, is one of the largest stockholders, the others being F. S. Ragsdale and N. M. Lawrence.

Raleigh's great K. of P. street fair and merchants' carnival, in progress during the past week, closed to-night most auspiciously. The merry-making for the closing day began at 10 o'clock and waxed in uproar and din until midnight, when it closed midst a great battle of confetti and the most deafening roar of horns, squedunks and all manner of noise-making devices. The carnival has been quite a success and the people, unlike those in most other places where carnivals have been held, seem pleased with it. The Knights of Pythias will realize a neat sum from their venture. Many advocates of the annual repetition of the carnival are in evidence. The Gaskill-Mundy-Levit Co. has certainly given good attractions and seem to be high-toned show people.

BIG LUMBER CONSOLIDATION.

Wiley Harker & Co. and Camp Interests United in Giant Corporation.

A Norfolk, Va., dispatch contains the following, which will be read with interest by the lumber trade throughout this section:

There has been a consolidation of the big pine firms of Wiley, Harker and Company, of New York, Petersburg and Norfolk, and the Camp Company, of Franklin, Va., the new firm being known as the Wiley, Harker and Camp Company. These large concerns manufacture North Carolina pine and successful consummation of the deal means much to the North Carolina pine interests. Wiley, Harker and Camp Company will handle upwards of two hundred million (200,000,000) feet per annum, with headquarters at New York and branch offices at Boston, Mass., Philadelphia, Pa., Baltimore, Md., Pittsburg, Pa., Norfolk, Va., and Petersburg, Va. This corporation will sell the entire products of Camp Manufacturing Company's mills, at Franklin county, Va., Arringdale, Va., De-Witt, Va., and Norfolk, Va. Also the entire outputs of Cape Fear Lumber Company, Angola Lumber Company and Northrop mills at Wilmington, N. C., the output of McKenney planing mill, McKenney, Va., and Tunis Lumber Company, Norfolk, Va. The timber holdings in Virginia and North Carolina are held in very few hands, not over ten (10) concerns controlling at least 80 to 90 per cent. of the entire output. The following are the officers of the Wiley, Harker and Camp Company: E. M. Wiley, president; R. J. Camp, vice-president; John Harker, treasurer, and Charles T. Siran, secretary. Mr. A. B. Morgan, of Petersburg, Va., is manager of the Norfolk and Petersburg offices of the company.

THE NORTH CAROLINA SOROSIS

Last Meeting for the Season—Mrs. Howell Resigned as President.

The North Carolina Sorosis held its last meeting for the season on Thursday. The officers read their annual reports which were heard with a great deal of interest.

The Club this year has accomplished a great deal outside of the literary programme laid out for the study of its members.

It has now two traveling libraries in circulation, the contents of which are greatly enjoyed, and in the Fall, traveling art galleries will be circulated among the country schools of this part of the State. The Club desires gifts of framed pictures of historical or artistic value to present to these schools.

The Cooking School established by the Club is completing its first term most successfully; under the instruction of a teacher of ability and of winning personality, the pupils have been enthusiastic and have acquired a remarkable store of knowledge in the culinary art.

The Club is steadily pursuing the work of establishing a public library for Wilmington; a number of books are donated and by next Fall the members of Sorosis feel confident that a beginning of this important work can be made.

At the monthly meeting on Thursday, the President, Mrs. Andrew J. Howell, Jr., tendered her resignation of that office and Miss Alice Green was elected President for the ensuing year.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting for men at the Young Men's Christian Association will be made very attractive to-day by the arrangement of a special musical programme. This will consist of a vocal duet by Mrs. Jno. Frank, soprano, and Mr. W. L. Williford, tenor. Both of these musicians have very pleasing voices. In addition to this there will be two numbers by the Association male quartette which is one of the best aggregations of singers in the city. There will be a 30-minute address by Rev. J. N. Cole who is well known to Wilmington people. The meeting will begin promptly at 5:30 o'clock.
